1915 NORTHERN ritten each year by the senior class, this being the year book of the class of nineteen fifteen, Ohio Northern University. II II VOLUME V

Copyright, 1915 by Wayne P. Bilderback Hermann H. Simon

S. G. Dack,

Prof. John Gambol Park

The class of 1915 did itself an honor when it decided to dedicate its class annual to the memory of Professor Park. The writer has known Professor Park intimately since April, 1868, when he entered as a student what was then known as the Ada Select School. He continued as a student till the fall of 1871 when he became a joint owner of what was then known as The Northwestern Ohio Normal School. He was connected with the school until a year before his death with the exception of a rest from July, 1899, till the autumn of 1906.

Professor Park was a born teacher. He possessed heartpower and a strong personality. He was a devout Christian. His character was unblemished. He numbered his friends by the thousands. The writer cherishes his memory and expects to join him soon in his eternal home.

My Northern

Mute Book, Preserve immaculate the faces, Tokens, signs, and memories Chat in uncertain future When my mind is charged With doubts and fears or gloom, I may find on thy pages Free ticket on swift memory's train Back to the golden days of youth When all was aspiration Tinged with hope and courage; When friends turned not away As fortune ceased to smile; When past was free from cloud, And future ever glowed effulgently With Present's wondrous halo.

WILLIS DAY AT NORTHERN

WILLIS DAY AT NORTHERN

Governor Willis Taking Oath of Office

Governor Willis Arriving at the State House

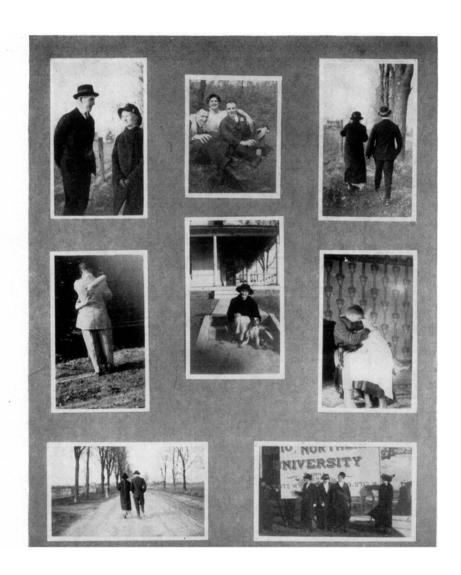

Northern at the Inauguration

Tuesday, November the third, was a great day for classic little Ada, for on that day she took unto herself a full-fledged Governor and great glory. In anticipation of the event the student body of the Ohio Northern University ignored the class bell throughout the entire day and disported themselves in great style. The cadet band led the pre-triumphal parade and as the body marched it gained in numbers, even the High School students, availing themselves of the excellent opportunity for a holiday. Then, after the gladsome news of the realization of their hopes came, the townspeople and students made the after-midnight air resound with band-music, whistle blowing and bell ringing. The next day saw a repetition of the proceedings. Another mammoth parade following the Governor-elect in his carriage of state marched through the streets with sounds of jubilation. After a speech by our worthy townsman, former student and professor, we dispersed to take up the sordid tasks of our various callings.

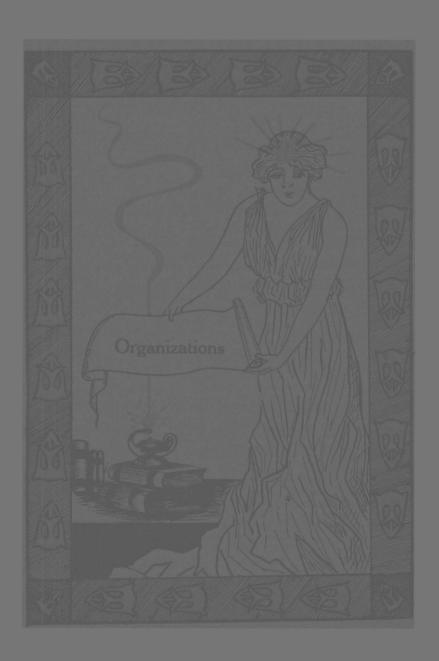

Soon plans were proposed for making a grand Ada-0. N. U. demonstration at Columbus on Inauguration Day, and on January the eleventh Columbus was forced to take cognizance of the representation from a little burg hitherto only known in a vague way. The Ada-0. N. U. delegation, led by Major Deming, and composed of students, citizens, friends, and former students of the University, all wearing Orange and Black streamers, marched in the monster Inaugural parade through the streets of the capital city and finally before the reviewing stand of the Governor, where the band played "Northern Will Shine Tonight."

There may have been larger delegations there that day, but none showed more enthusiasm or were accorded a more hearty welcome by the Governor than was that body composed of his neighbors, friends and representatives of his Alma Mater. The Covernor showed the spirit that characterizes him by calling out by their first names many of his friends as they marched by, and later, in the reception at the Capitol, proved that he is worthy of the democratic title so aptly applied to him—"The Slouch Hat" Governor. We love and are proud of our own Frank B. Willis and know that he harbors those same sentiments for us. And we are going to VOTE FOR HIM IN 1916.

Adelphian History, Remote and Recent

THE REMOTE PAST

The Adelphian Literary Society was founded September 3, 1880.

The sister societies already existing had become very acrimonious and the establishment of a mediator between them became imperative for conditions had grown such that many refused to join either of the other two societies because of the strife that existed between them.

This fact was no sooner visible than it was perceived by the eagle eye of the founder of the school and the societies, and forthwith he began the organization of what proved to be the Adelphian Literary Society.

Because of its prime mission the new society suffered from many new, peculiar and unfounded epithets but its true appellation, Adelphia, a brother has long since wrought havor with the plans of those who would have done her injury in her early life had it been possible. Under this criticism, all the hidden talent began to make itself felt and from that time till now the society has been looked upon in its true relationship.

"Sweet are the uses of adversity
Which like a toad, ugly and venomous
Wears yet a precious jewel in his head."

On the fifteenth of April, 1890, the society was incorporated under the laws of Ohio and with its charter received all the rights and privileges of a corporate body. Since that time its growth has been phenomenal in all lines of literary work.

Much credit is due Professor and Mrs. Maglott for work in aiding the early members and especially to Dr. Lehr for the origin and indefatigable defense of Adelphia.

A brief summary of the remote past of the Adelphian Literary Society runs somewhat as follows:

THE RECENT PAST

The past college year has been one of great activity. The work has been of a high standard and fully up to the record of former years. Much of it has been original, a feature which the society has ever endeavored to keep in the forefront. The attendance has been splendid and a great revival of iiterary work has been on the increase for several months. The old time method of soliciting has come back into vogue and with renewed vigor from the period of rest, Northern again sees the vigorous campaigning during soliciting days that resembles that of "the good old times." The membership has greatly increased and with it society spirit.

The continuation of business-like methods in conducting the administrative work of the society, as instituted last year, has been maintained and great has been the effect thereof. Members are no longer so loath to pay their dues as they were when nothing was accounted for. The term dues have been changed to a uniform amount of fifty cents regardless of sex or initiation, and with 'confidence rife among the membership old Adelphia has advanced with leaps and bounds.

The Adelphian Diploma has proved to be a great incentive along with the college credit plan, to lure performers onto the stage.

The revision of the constitution has done much in installing new life into those who through modesty or bashfulness have refrained from taking part in the elections and general administrative work. Under the new constitution the officers are nominated by the society as a whole instead of by a biased or non biased committee as was many times the case in both respects in former years. As a result of this reform, election week and night are always the ones of greatest activity. Candidates are rife electioneering for themselves and their favorite running mates on the ticket.

Honesty has pervaded the atmosphere, and there has been scarcely a candidate for any office who was not sincere and who did not hustle at the polls and in the field to be elected. Even the marshal of the present administration was elected as a result of a vigorous campaign of vote soliciting.

New and established rules have been adopted to govern the Crile Oratorical Contest and the Manahan Debating Contest, and with the constitution they are to be published and bound in vest pocket edition in the near future. This alone will greatly benefit the welfare of the society because would-be-contestants may now proceed with intelligence instead of groping in doubt as to what are the requirements of the society, and it will dispel all possibility of temporary disputes among the contestants.

In athletic circles, the Adelphian Basket Ball team has again won the championship in the Inter-Society series without Iosing a game. Out of a series of five games played by the three societies, the Adelphians won four.

For this meritorious defending of Adelphia's athletic record the members of the team were awarded the society letter, A.

. The Adelphian Society also claims the honor of being the 'champion baseball players for the year, 1914-1915.

But with the winning of all the contests mentioned, the greatest was the winning of the last gubernatorial contest when Adelphia contributed to the State of Ohio her present great Governor, Frank B. Willis, who for the past four years had been Congressman from the Eighth District of Ohio. Last year we announced through the pages of Northern that Mr. Willis was a candidate for the nomination for the governorship of Ohio. Since that time Mr. Willis has been made Governor and is succeeding beyond the fondest hopes of his thousands of admirers among whom all Adelphians are the most staunch. With this signal triumph we here and now nominate Mr. Willis for the Presidency of the United States in 1916.

Besides being a literary, political, athletic and social incubator, Adelphia has contributed one of the world's greatest surgeons and medical discoverers, Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland, Ohio, who is now at the head of a band of American Volunteer surgeons doing active humanitarian service upon the battle fields of France.

In music circles we point with pride to the magnificent record of Miss E. Eleanor Patterson of New York City who has become renowned all over this nation as America's genuine contralto singer. She is not only one of the leading American concert contralto singers but is one of the leading instructors in music in the metropolis of the nation.

What has been achieved in the past is to be more than duplicated in the future for many of the leaders-to-be are now in the process of training and it is but a thin veil of years that separates them from their work.

With this year's Senior class go many of those who have been active during the past four years and the society will keenly feel the distinct loss of these, our friends who go forth perhaps never to meet again upon the Adelphian stage in forensic battle, but the world has a larger stage upon which each must act his part in the great drama of life. We are sure they will act well, for Adelphia expects nothing but good reports from her alumni.

As for the Society itself it will continue to perform and fulfill the mission that new and willing hands will see safely through. They will be on hands to guide the old ship safely upon her voyage that ends not with a brief flight of years. Adelphia will continue to produce the quality and quantity of work that is hers to produce. She will be discounted by none in culture along social, moral, literary and political lines.

With her Anchor and Shield she will counteract the onslaughts of time and rise to the full realization of her motto, "Ad astra per Aspera."

WHAT THE GOVERNOR SAYS OF THE LITERARY SOCIETY

"I have said publicly many times there is no work which I undertook to do in Ohio Northern University which was of so great value to me as the work done in the literary society.

I wish the young men and women who are now in school in Ada could understand fully what training upon the stages of the literary society means to them. If they could understand this now, as they certainly will in after life, they would avail themselves of every opportunity to participate in literary work.

A training is thereby obtained which cannot otherwise be secured."

ORATORY

DR. C. W. CRILE

Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland, Ohio, was in 1913 elected to a fellowship in the Royal College of Surgeons of Great Britain in recognition of his recently announced discovery of a method for the prevention of surgical shock known as "anoci-association...

The system practically reduces to zero the amount of shock following a surgical operation.

Dr. Crile's name is associated with those of but two other great lights in the surgical world; Morton who discovered the anesthetic properties of ether, and Lister who discovered antisepsis.

The honor above mentioned goes only to men whose services have contributed materially to the development of surgery. Prevention of shock in surgical cases means a decrease in mortality; it also means a great decrease in physical suffering.

In these days when surgery is so freely used these two advantages constitute a notable offering to humanity. Dr. Crile has given his discovery to his profession and to the world following the best traditions in medicine without any attempt to exploit it or commercialize it.

Dr. Crile graduated from the Science Department of Ohio Northern University in 1885, when the Adelphian Literary Society was yet young but he was one of its active workers and staunch supporters in those days as he is at the present time. Since that time he has won an international reputation in the field of surgery. present time he is at the head of a Cleveland band of volunteer surgeons and nurses who are maintaining a ward in the American ambularce hospital in France and is thus, again, contributing his humanitarian services, upon the field of carnage in Europe.

In 1912 Dr. Crile established an Annual Oratorical Prize of $25.00 to stimulate the greatest possible oratorical excellence among the membership of Adelphia for which the Adelphian Literary Society and the University of which she is a part, feel truly grateful. Besides stimulating oratory it has aided greatly in increasing the literary standard as well.

With Governor Willis, Dr. Crile is considered a beacon light worthy of emulation on the part of every student of Ohio Northern University.

Within the past six months Dr. Crile has won lasting laurels by his wonderful work in the European war. He was connected with the "American Ambulance," a large military hospital in Paris. He was also able to do great good in alleviating human suffering in the trenches at the front.

Music

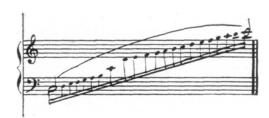

E. ELEANOR PATTERSON

America's Genuine Contralto

As in Oratory, Forensics and Athletics, the Adelphian Literary Society is also fortunate in being able to claim some of America's greatest musical talent. In the starry musical galaxy of the society and the nation, Miss E. Eleanor Patterson, of New York City, is one of the most luminous stars. She is America's Genuine Contralto and has appeared in concert, oratorio, musicale, and recital in numerous large American cities where she has been remarkably successful.

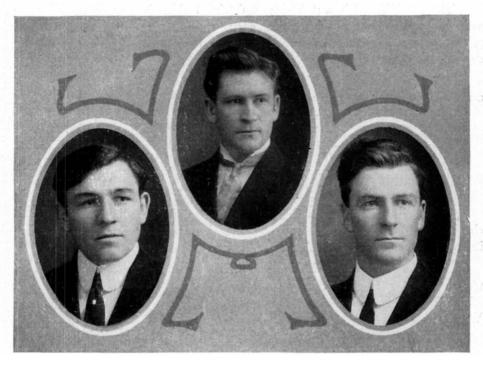

Owing to unusual quality of voice and remarkable range, Miss Patterson is able to offer programs for every conceivable occasion,—from the sweet, sympathetic "heart songs" to the thrilling dramatic passaces of grand opera. She sings three full octaves,—'n short a repertoire attempted by very few contralto singers, She recently sang before twenty thousand people in the Billy Sunday Revival Meetings in Philadelphia, and before Ella Wheeler Wilcox at Short Beach, Connecticut, who declared that Miss Patterson would surely have the world at her feet.

It is with pleasure that the Adalphian Society presents a likeness of Miss Patterson to the readers of Northern and the people in general.

Debating

W. L. MANAHAN

J. L. MANAHAN

H. A. MANAHAN

Among the most loyal members of the Adelphian Literary Society were the Manahan Brothers whose likenesses appear above.

Their literary activities date back to about the year, 1908.

They were always deeply interested in all kinds of literary work and in the welfare of their literary home, but particularly so along the line of debating. Many times during their college careers they appeared upon the Adelphian stage, and upon the stages of other literary societies, and colleges, in society, inter-society and inter-collegiate debates defending, forensically, the Blue and Gold and the Orange and Black.

Since completing their work at Northern, H. A. is pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Ayersville, Ohio; J. L. is a student in Harvard University, where he has won a number of scholarships; and W. L. is Principal of the Paulding (Ohio) High School.

During the Spring of 1914, W. L. Manahan, in behalf of his brothers and himself, announced that beginning with 1915 they would establish two permanent prizes of $15.00 and $10.00 to be given annually to members of the Adelphian Society winning honors in debate,—the contest to be held during the Spring Quarter each year.

This timely benefaction has done much to stimulate the art of debating during the past year, and is certain to promote increased activity in future years.

Rules governing this coplest have been drafted and adopted by the Society and have been placed permanently on record. All members of the Adelphian Literary Society complying with these rules are entitled to participate in the Annual Manahan Debating Contest.

The Adelphian Society is sincerely grateful to the donors for this beneficent gift.

The Willis Debating Club

The Adelphian Literary Society maintains besides its regular Saturday night programs, a live debating club for the purpose of developing the art of debating and public speaking among its members and to prepare them for the more "trying" debates, etc., on the regular programs.

This club has been one of the most active adjuncts of the Adelphian Society for a number of years and grows more popular as time goes on.

It devotes a great deal of time to the practice of parliamentary law also. It meets regularly once a week. It 'has its regularly elected officers who receive much experience along executive lines as well as in debating and kindred phases of literary work.

The Willis Debating Club is the "prep." department of the Adelphian Literary Society.

Until the present year this Club met on Friday night but this year the date was changed to Thursday night in order that it might accommodate a greater number of its members who were unable to meet on Friday.

At its beginning it was christened the Willis Debating Club in honor of him who was then a member of the General Assembly of Ohio, later Congressman from the Eighth District of Ohio and at present Governor of the Commonwealth, Frank B. Willis.

Athletics

BASKET BALL

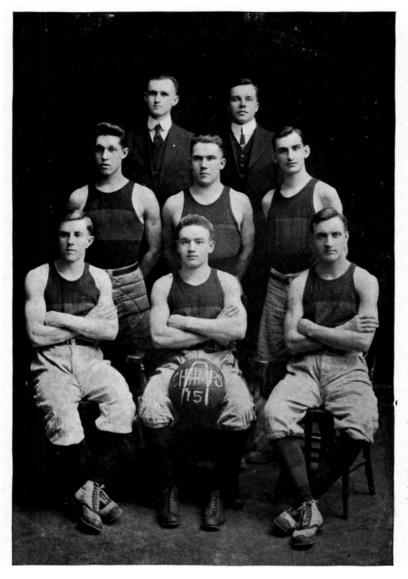

The Adelphian Basket Ball Team was again the great success in 1915, that it has been in the past. Once more it won the championship in the Inter-Society series without losing a game. Out of the five games in the series, the Adelphian team played four and won every one. The other game of the five was played by the Franklins and Philos.

The success of the team was due, greatly, to the efficient management by Manager A. E. Shiveley and coaching by Coach Harry Judson and better still by the star playing by each man on the team.

This makes the third time the Adelphians have won the championship in the past four years,—a record of which all Adelphians are indeed proud, and rightly so.

A Few of Our Notables

We could not be expected to record here the names of all the Franklins that have worked themselves to places of responsibility after leaving Northern, much less could we record, as we would like to do, the names of all Franklins here and elsewhere without regard to rank or position. But within the last couple of years a new list of Franklin celebrities has deservedly attracted state, nation or world-wide attention.

Dr. Sam Eby, now connected with Kent State Normal, has only recently returned to Ohio to serve his native state as an educator. Dr. Eby has not hesitated to use Harvard and Yale and the Universities of France and Germany in preparing in his chosen field. We shall hear more from him as he is still a young man.

Hon. J. W. Zeller, our veteran educator has been chosen to direct the educational affairs of one of our most populous counties, Lucas. We all recall that Mr. Zeller was the last Commissioner of Education of Ohio but one.

Politicians and statesmen? Yes, we have these, too.

Hon. A. L. Freehafer, U. S. Senator from Idaho, would certainly belong here. Mr. Freehafer won distinction while in school as a great debater. We can use him in that capacity in the U. S. Senate.

Here, also, ex-speaker, Chas. L. Swain, and the Hon. J. F. Kramer, minority leader of the present H. of R., deserve to be listed. Leander S. Keyser, author of "The Only Way Out," and Jas. Cloyd Bowman, author of "Into the Depths," we are proud to claim as our brothers in Franklinism.

We should like to say something of Mr. C. Moser, Dean of Mechanical Engineering, at Leland Stanford University; C. J. Kayser, Professor of Mathematics, at Columbia; Dr. Erett Gates of the Divinity School of the University of Chicago, and many others. We cannot forget, even if we would, our famous young scientist, Dr. Walter F. Rittman. Dr. Rittman, now in the service of Uncle Sam, has only recently surprised the world with his discoveries in chemistry. Hereafter, one gallon of gasoline will serve where three were required before; hereafter the U. S. will not be dependent on Europe for dye stuffs, and the chemicals needed in high explosives. Our own Dr. Rittman has made these things possible.

LIFE'S ORCHESTRA

In the great orchestra of life
Most are destined to play an humble part
That in itself suggests no hint
Of melody,
But if the chorus grand
Seems lost and scarce worth while.
Yet, should a single harpist
Neglect to fill his place,
The tone less full would be;
Less sweet the harmony.

Therefore, in the rich obligato
To the Song of Life
Let each produce his best
And truest tones,
That, even the these tones
Reach but a few
Yet to these few will added pleasure give.

And, let us also strive to hear
The chord of other players,
Who, like we,
Are playing but a second part
In life's rich symphony.

To Our Loyal Franklin Girls

Our Franklin girls, we'll keep in mind, As modest ladylike, and kind, For their ideals, high and bright, And loyalty to Purple and White.

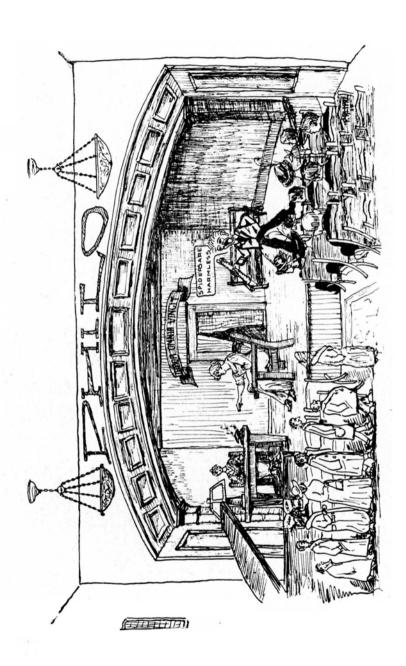

Thru all the strife of the past year, With Franklin spirit and good cheer, They worked till duty, pleasure seemed, And Fortune on their efforts beamed.

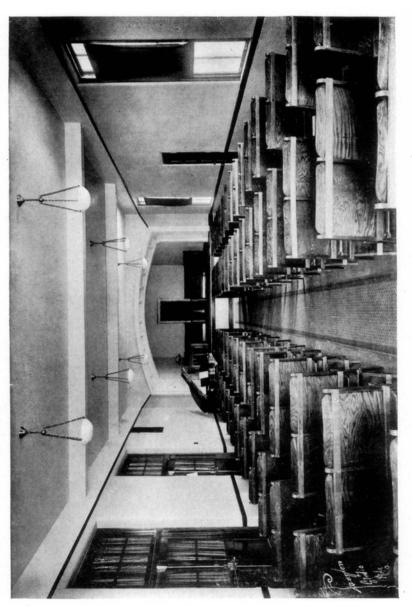

Such girls as these, well might one know, For it matters not where they may go; The work they do; from whence the call, They'll shun no duty, large or small.

When years have passed and we return To our Alma Mater; Classic Urn, In Franklin Hall, we hope to find A larger group of the same kind.

But meacwhile, in the world of strife, When wearied by problems of life, We'll think of the Franklin girls we knew And take new courage,—up and do.

PRESIDENTS DURING THE YEAR

When the fall term opened the Philomathean Literary Society was still occupying its temporary home in the Sunday School Room of the Disciple Church. Although the society was handicapped by small quarters the work was started with enthusiasm by the President, Mr. Geo. K. Voke, and his splendid corps of helpers. Led on by the hope of soon being in the new hall, the society spirit grew, new members were added and the literary value of the programs was shown by the interested audiences that gathered each Saturday night.

After four splendid meetings in the temporary home, the new hall was completed. Through the earnest efforts and the hard work of the furnishing committee, Messrs. Floyd M. Elliott, Dale R. Rice, and Miss Cora Belle Luft, the new home was a thing of beauty and the source of great pride to every Philomathean.

The hall is beautifully frescoed in three shades of tan, the stage furniture is fumed oak upholstered in Spanish leather and the hall is seated with dark oak seats. The sweet-toned Mason and Hamlin piano furnishes much pleasure to the Philos and their friends.

The evening of October 10, 1915, was a great occasion to the Philos, for at this time the Philo Hall was dedicated. President Smith ably presided at this meeting and introduced Supt. John Davidson of Lima, who made the dedicatory address. This splendid address so aroused the spirit of Philoism that many of the old members who were present gave us experience from their college days telling of many things that happened in the old Philo Hall.

SPECIAL FEATURES

The fall term was distinguished by many special features that were entertaining, helpful and instructive in every way. Although only one of Philo's teams won in the Intersociety debate, both teams worked hard and deserve much credit. There would be no growth if we were always victorious and occasional defeats bring forth a greater determination and a renewed energy that makes us stronger than before.

It has become the custom to have an entire "Ladies' Program" each term and it has proven a splendid thing, for it seems that the Philo girls get behind a thing when they have something to do and do it well.

A good laugh now and then does us all good and the "Humorous Program" given during the fall term was the most wholesome fun the Philos have had for a long time.

No one's education is complete without a certain knowledge or appreciation of music. In every one's nature there is an emotion which is aroused by music only. Thus we see that music is a necessary part of a society whose object is to promote mutual benefit intellectually. This part of the Philo Society has been developed to a certain degree by the splendid music of the orchestra and the special Musical Features;

The social Hours have been of great value this year. They have served to bring old Philos closer together, make new Philos acquainted and all Philos more interested in their society. However, the social features should always be considered as incidents rather than the chief end of the society.

The Literary Societies are each a workshop but if we each stayed at home all of the time we would become narrow, selfish, and intolerant. But the Conjoint Program of the three Literary Societies has become a source of much pleasure and intellectual help. These awaken the members of each society to a realization of their powers and possibilities.

WINTER QUARTER

The winter quarter opened with the motto: "One hundred new members." The soliciting committee organized the campaign so well that when the final count was made 1 13 new members were added to the Philo roll. With an ideal hall, a large membership, and a corps of efficient officers, the literary work of the term was of the highest type. In fact, the Philos became so imbued with the literary spirit that the athletic interests of the society suffered considerably. This is evidenced by the fact that the Philos defeated with unparalleled ease the opposing teams of the Franklins and Adelphians in the Intersociety debating contest, while our basket ball team, in spite of hard training, was beaten in every game.

THE STEAM ROLLERS

Near the close of the winter quarter some of the more enthusiastic Philos held meetings, not only on Saturday evenings, but several times during the week. Perhaps not all of these meetings were of a purely literary character, for when the evening for nominating officers for the spring quarter came, two steam rollers made their appear-Their exact purpose is a ance at the Hall. mystery; their construction a secret. known, however, that through some mistake or oversight the boilers of the two machines were connected by a small pipe. the following week the defect was corrected so that when the eve of election came both machines were in perfect running order. But - and such is the irony of fate - the rolling contest had scarcely begun when the engineering corps of the one machine became so excited that they tore the hose loose from the supply tank and turned it into the fire-box, with the inevitable result that they were hopelessly beaten by the opposing roller.

It might 'be added that the term closed with the spirit of Philoism stronger than ever.

Philoism

The Stars never shown on a happier throng;
Than the Philos, the Heavenly Philos.

Among them or near them you never go wrong;
With the fun-loving, God-fearing Philos.

Their numbers are great, their records are square,
You can find Philos most everywhere.

What is it you say, Pal? Put 'er there!
We too are jolly good Philos.

Our Maidens are peaches and cannot be beat;
Our girls, our feminine Philos.
Pigossi says they are too sweet to eat;
And we need them here in the Philos.
Their laugh is like music, their smiles bewitch,
They make a poor greaser wish he were rich,
Or break Prexy's rule, I don't know which,
Those happy, fairy-like Philos.

When I shall die as all mortals do,
I'll surely die a Philo.
Wherever I go, I pledge to you,
I'll not forget the Philos.
When the trumpet sounds on that morning fair,
And people assemble in Heaven or—hair,
I'll look around and see standing there,
A glorious bunch of Philos.

A. WILL (Humorist)

Who's Who in Philo

Dale Rice will go down in history as the Philo martyr, accused of everything from embezzlement to log-rolling,

Any one wishing to have their chickens lifted will do well to see H. P. Curry.

The Gleim sisters have established the enviable reputation of having never been defeated in debate. No wonder they carry on their amours as a side line.

The Philos have an aquarium of little fish which are constantly coming to the surface to show their pretty dainty fins. Among them are Weaver, Piggosi, Campbell, Cramer, Harshman, and Hankins.

"I like my Fido, yes, I do."-Cora Luft.

Elliott thinks much, but says little.

"Will Weaver return the Secretary's book?" Miss Flory has lost track of it.

"Ah, my poor boy," said a benevolent old lady, "I suppose you are often pinched by want and hunger, are you not?"

"Yes, mam; and cops," answered Ramey.

Karns reminds one of the Cyclostomes, being so smooth, cunning and eel-like. Perhaps he acquired some of their characteristics by studying them so long.

For information, see Elliott.

Does Mail Pouch develop oratory? Ask Ramey.

Peanuts, onions, and Cora Belle. Then nothing more for all is well.

BALMER KNOWS

Harshman has a mania for society offices—but somehow they always go to the other fellow.

Miss Weaver believes in crowing—afterwards.

Hankins is well liked by his friends.

Cramer, while Philo janitor, could see anything but dust-even a Ruby.

Pigossi was not born to blush unseen and waste his fragrance on the desert air.

Will says, "Even a humorous peem will not win a girl."

"I'll try." - Miss Stabler.

Ralph Weaver says that when a fellow is studying psychology, he ought to have several lady friends who can be used for experimental purposes—sounds like an efficiency crank.

"One who knows how to lay down on a job."-Sleesman.

Guy Smith — "Haven't I a strong voice?"

Miss Roof — "Yes, it might come handy in case of fire."

Even Roses do not bloom unseen in Philo Society. - Mary Rose.

For excuses, see Reitz.

Here's a health to the future,

Resolved, That a state board of arbitration with compulsory powers should be established in Ohio to settle all disputes between employer and employe.

THE AFFIRMATIVE TEAM

Northern has been unfortunate this year in that the club has had no coach or library facilities. Nevertheless the teams made a strong fight and lost only by a small margin. And cwing to the fact that the teams have to bear the financial responsibility of the debates, they have gotten their money's worth. It is the hope of the club that Intercollegiate debating may have a more stable basis in the near future.

March 26, Northern Affirmative lost to Mt. Union Negative.

Mr. O. B. Young, Adelphian, oration, "The Man of the Hour."

Mr. H. Ramey, Philomathean, oration, "Optimism."

Mr. Justis McElroy, Law Department, oration, "Modern Chivalry."

The Law Department, besides furnishing three of the orators, namely,. Barger, Ramey, and McElroy, also showed enough enthusiasm for the whole school, giving the Law yells, introducing and applauding each speaker. The orations were noteworthy for their spirit of optimism and high ideals as was fitting for the occasion.

BLASE BUONPANE

'The Ohio Northern University is receiving recognition in all the activities that appertain to college life. Last year our school was received into the Ohio Intercollegiate Oratorical Association and for the first time the Ohio Northern University has sent an orator to compete with other schools in oratory.

The representation of the school this year fell upon Blase A. Buonpene, who, after winning honors in the annual Franklin-Kuhn contest, wen first honor in the contest at our University.

The schools represented in the contest of 1915, held at Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, were: Hiram, Muskingum, Wooster, Wittenberg, Ohio Northern, Cedarville, Heidelberg, and Baldwin-Wallace. The places that were awarded to each are the same as they are above named.

The President of the association for the year 1916 will be from the O. N. U. The contest will be held at Baldwin-Wallace next year. But in 1917 it will be held at the O. N. U.

Our representative, Mr. Buonpane, reports that with the proper training in our Oratory Department, Northern can easily win first honors in the future. We have the material but we must model after the other colleges in the coaching and preparation for the delivery of the oration.

Since "self praise is half scandal," we will not make this an encomium on the Junior Class. We must say, however, that we have done a few things in a quiet way since we entered this noble institution of learning.

Our life has been comparatively uneventful, but even then, we have had a goodly number of ups and downs. However, our troubles, perplexities, and anxieties have been overcome in some way, leaving us stronger to battle with those of the future.

Even if our life has been rather quiet, we are not dying of ennui, for to us has fallen the production of the annual Mock Commencement and to us was left the duty of conquering the Seniors in our annual "fray."

When, in years to come, you hear of Ohio Northern, '16, may you think kindly of the small, but loyal band which must so scon pass into that vale of weeping and sorrow.

The Law Department

The O. N. U. Law Association

Sociability and consequent co-operation are a desideratum to every American institution. Being reminded that "to know thyself" is about the largest part of education and that that can best be attained by socialization and fraternization, the Law department of O. N. U. called a meeting for the purpose of organizing and perfecting an association for that purpose.

At the first meeting committees were appointed to draw up a constitution and to select an appropriate name for the organization. At the next regular meeting the committee on the constitution read the same and it was immediately adopted. The committee on names presented many appropriate names of which the "O. N. U. Law Association" was adopted by the organization.

The object of the association, as the constitution states, is "to foster, promote, and advance the welfare of the Law Department of the Ohio Northern University." The motto selected for the association is "Where there is a wrong there is a remedy." The membership is restricted to all law students of the university who have registered in this or any other state. "The Officers of the Association shall be composed of a President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Sergeant-at-Arms." The various duties of the officers and the manner in which they are elected are set forth in the constitution.

The association is in its mere infancy, but from the spirit manifested by the officers and the members we predict a success and that the Law Department will be wonderfully benefited by its organization.

All students of the University pursuing a regular course in electrical studies are eligible to membership in the Institute. Student members are entitled to the regular proceedings of the Institute.

Fourteen meetings have been held during the year in which all members have had an opportunity of presenting addresses on electrical subjects.

On February the twenty-fifth, Prof. D. D. Ewing of Purdue University, gave an address on Electric Railways. On November the eighteenth Prof. E. B. Thurston gave a paper on Homopolar Generators, and at the meetings of September the twenty-third and February the seventeenth Prof. Karl B. Within the last few years the Normal Department of the O. N. U. has begun to carry on the work of that department in the recognized college courses. Prof. McCracken lifted the department from its former prep condition to a position of standard rank.

Prof. Davis, our present dean, has very ably continued the work of Prof. McCracken. As a result of his efforts the department is recognized by the State Department of Public Instruction.

But our present dean is not one who stops short of all that can be done. The training course offered by the department is already more than required by the state. The department is laying particular stress on the technique of instruction and on the social accomplishments that every teacher ought to have.

The seniors of the department this year bespeak for the present faculty a happy future. We will likely return some time—a habit with us; and are sure that the latest and best in education will be found at Northern. We bid you Godspeed.

The Choral Society

About eighteen years ago, under the direction of Mr. Hugh W. Owen, who was at that time Dean of the Conservatory, there was organized the: Choral Society of this university. Since the time of organization the society has been directed by Deans Owen, Denny, Wengerd and Hughes. Members have been welcomed not only from among the students of the conservatory, but from all departments of the university and from the town as well.

The custom has been to give two public performances a year; one at the Christmas season and the other a May festival or Commencement concert. For assistance in these concerts many prominent artists have been secured, among whom the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is most noted. Among the works presented are: Messiah, Sampson, Stabat Mater, Judas Maccabaeus, and Elijah; and Rose Maiden, The Seasons, Swan and the Skylark, and Golden Legend.

This year for the December concert, Gaul's Holy City was rendered, the solo parts being taken by members of the society. For the commencement number they give Handel's "Creation," assisted by the University Orchestra, and by Helen Graham Cole, soprano; E. Earle Faber, tenor; and Lee Bright, basso.

The present enrollment of the society numbers about sixty. 'Its officers are:

THE LEHR GLEE CLUB

One of the noteworthy events of the past year has been the permanent organization of a College Glee Club; something Northern has needed and lacked for several years. And while the organization is yet in its infancy, the successful year just closing gives promise of its development into a valuable musical asset to the school.

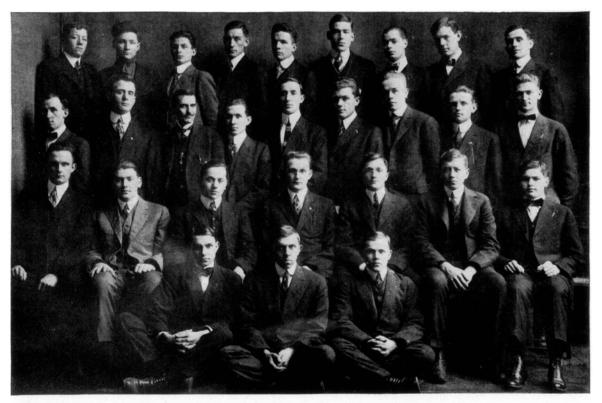

Glee club work appeals to young men of many different temperaments, as will be seen from the fact that this club is composed of members active in many of the different departments of the university; men prominent in athletics, in scholastic standing, and in the social life of the campus, while in its membership are represented a dozen states and territories.

The work taken up this year has been of high standard and among the selections on the musical programs of the club will be noted: The sextette from "Lucia," "The Pilgrims' Chorus," "The Miller's Wooing," "Sunset," "Estudeantina," besides a score of lighter compositions. The policy of the club during its first year has been to put the most of its effort to the development of musical ability and not to concert work, and so was unable to respond to all the calls made upon it. However, on its several appearances in Ada and elsewhere it has always pleased an appreciative audience.

It is hoped that another year will see the Lehr Glee Club still better organized and enjoying the same success it has merited during the past year.

The Agriculture Society

The Agricultural Society of the Ohio Northern University was organized in the fall of 1913. The officers for the year were as follows: President, LeRoy Frontz; Secretary, R. C. Bell; Treasurer, H. F. Wilson. The meetings were held on Friday nights, bi-monthly, the first meetings being held in the Pharmacy Hall. Current agricultural topics were discussed by the members and prominent agriculturalists of the community.

Altho first organized to promote an interest in scientific farming, the society has been found to be a leading factor in unifying this department of the university. It is the common meeting ground of the students of the College of Agriculture.

In the fall of 1914 the society was reorganized, at which time the following officers were elected: President, E. H. Reed; Vice President, Mr. Ash; Treasurer, A. E. Shanklin; Reporter, H. F. Wilson.

The society meetings are now held in our own rooms in the Dukes Memorial building. The programs have been splendid, and the enthusiasm thus far shown insures the future success of the society.

On March the first the society held its first annual banquet at the Young Hotel.

Although the Y. M. C. A. has been handicapped very much in the past year by not having rooms, we have had quite an active association. Geo. K. Good last Spring conducted a weekly social problem class which were well attended and from which all received much benefit. On Friday evenings at the Disciple Church devotional meetings were held, and which were addressed by members of the faculty and Ada business men.

On September 18th the Annual Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Mixer was held. This is the annual reception for all of the new students.

Under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. Bishop Henderson of the Methodist Conference had Dr. Thoburn of Erie, Pa., conduct a series of services in the Convocation Rooms. Perhaps no man has had as great an influence upon the lives of Northern's students during the past year as Dr. Thoburn.

The new rooms with shower baths a-d gymnasium in Lehr Memorial have been occupied since April the first, so now the Y. M. C. A. promises to be, as it should, the greatest issue in the young man's life at Northern.

The work during the past year has been very successful, although we had no room which we could call our own. Mother Maglott willingly permitted us the further use of her office room, where the girls could study between classes. The devotional meetings were held in the Adelphian Hall. These meetings have been very interesting throughout the year and have been well attended by the girls. As an Association our aim was threefold, and this we feel was accomplished to a certain degree. First a closer relation to the church, second a deeper spirit of membership, and lastly a stronger sister-hood.

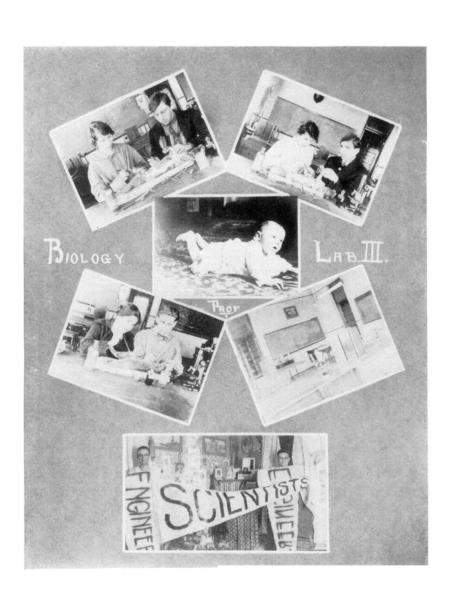

The social side of the Association has been most pleasing. Afternoon parties, the "Mixer" and "get-acquainted" meetings have brought the girls into a closer sister-hood.

The Cabinet had the privilege of meeting with the Bluffton, Defiance, and Findlay Cabinets at Bluffton, in a Council lasting two days. Here problems of vital interest were discussed by the members of the various Cabinets and much real good was accomplished.

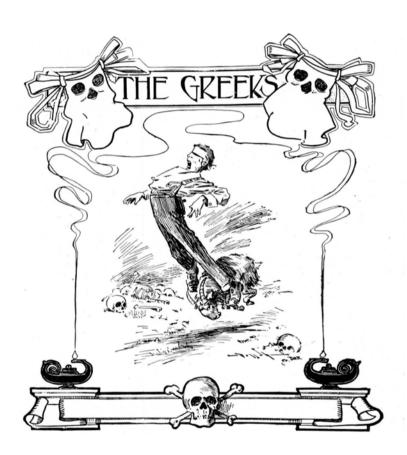

The new Y. W. Room in the Lehr building is large and full of sunshine. With new furnishings it will be a beautiful home and an inspiration to all. Seven ladies from the class of '96, with Mrs. M. L. Snider as chairman, have given a hundred and twenty-five dollars to help furnish the room. Some of the girls of last year and the year before have also aided us. With this help we will have a beautiful home before the end of the Spring Term.

Miss Cora Belle Luft has been an ideal President and it has been largely due to her efficient work that the Association has had such a successful year. Under the leadership of Carrie Shrock and her efficient Cabinet the coming year promises to be one of the greatest in the history of the Association at Ohio Northern University.

Football Team

The Coach

"Bugs" RAYMOND

Coach Raymond played tackle for three years at Ohio State and was unanimously chosen All-Sitate tackle for two years. He came to Northern from Columbus, where he was Athletic Director of the city playgrounds. He not only knows football, but he knows how to impart his knowledge to others and how to handle men in order to get the most out of them. He not only developed a good football team, but aroused a greater spirit and interest in Athletics than had ever been felt here before, as well as raised the standard of Athletics by insisting that the candidates train, and that only those played whose standing in their classes entitled them to play.

Football

There were about twenty-five men responded to the call for football candidates. Of these only three—Cobbe, Fyke and McCandless—were letter men. However, there was some of the best football material Northern has ever had in years. To hammer this material into shape was the task before Coach Raymond, and he went about it with alacrity and dispatch. How well he succeeded was evidenced by the scores. Of the nine games scheduled, four were won. Of the five games lost, all except one were by a narrow margin and all were on a foreign field. The average weight of Northern's line was one hundred and seventy-five pounds, of the backfield, one hundred and sixty-three pounds. The total number of points scored by Northern was one hundred and forty-three. By their opponents one hundred and forty-nine.

THE GAMES

Bluffton 0—Northern 32

The team Bluffton sent to Northern was the strongest it has ever put out. Their quarterback reminded one of "Fletch" by his speed and skill at dodging. They fought gamely to the last, but it was of no use. Coach Raymond made many changes in Northern's lineup during the game, as he wished to try out all the candidates.

Antioch 3—Northern 27

This game was played on a muddy field. For a time it looked as if the visitors were to be presented with another "goose-egg," but Fess made a beautiful kick from the thirty-yard line thus scoring a field goal. For the rest of the game Northern saw that he was not given another such opportunity. The score, then, stood 27 to 3 when the whistle blew.

St. Mary's 14—Northern 0

After a plucky fight Northern was defeated in the first game on foreign territory by the heavy team which represented St. Mary's, but which, we suspect had players other than the students who graced her halls. However, the team made a splendid showing, considering the fact that it was made up almost entirely of new material and that it was the first game away from home.

Marshall 7—Northern 0

This was one of the times when the score does not tell much about the game. It was scrappy from start to finish and the Marshall team won because they got the break, not because our team was out-classed.

Muskingum 33 — Northern 14

Twenty-seven of Muskingum's points were made thru the line during the first half. In the last half Northern tightened up and allowed but one touchdown. It is to be regretted that they did not tighten up sooner, nevertheless they showed Muskingum that they were not quitters, but would fight to the finish even tho defeated.

Winona 7—Northern 38

The Saturday following the Muskingum game the Winona Aggies came to Ada. Northern, still smarting from the Muskingum game, administered a severe drubbing to the visitors just to show what they could do. The Aggies played good football, but there was no stopping our team, who pounded them across the field for a touchdown again and again.

Christian Brothers 86-Northern 0

Northern lost to Christian Brothers by a score of 86 to 0, which was not surprising as their team is probably the strongest in the west. They were heavier than Northern and had the advantage of being more experienced and playing on their home field.

Adrian 0 — Northern 32

This was a fast and interesting game even tho the score would not seem to indicate it. The efficient coaching it had been receiving began to tell and the team worked like a machine, sweeping thru Adrian's line like a tornado. Cobbe's forward passing to McAllister and to Kemmery was the best seen here this year. The entire team played a fine game, the line holding like a wall.

Detroit 7—Northern 0

With several of the players out of the game on account of iniuries, the final game of the season was played at Detroit, and lost by a 7 to 0 score. Detroit thus avenged herself for the defeat she received at our bands last year. The game was close at all times, but someone had to lose and it seemed to be our turn this time. Northern fought gamely, several times holding Detroit for downs on the one-yard line, but the odds were too great and their opponents succeeded in getting the ball across the line once.

THE MEN

"Тү" Совве

As Adams, who was elected Captain last year, did not come back,

"Ty" was elected in his place. "Ty" was an end last year, but Coach Raymond at once recognized material for a good quarterback, and put him in that position. As quarterback he plays a good consistent, but not brilliant game. To his good generalship Northern owes much of her success for this year.

"Сниск" Гуке

"Chuck" played a brilliant game at fullback last year, but was unable to play in the first few games owing to an injured knee. However, he came back strong in the mid-season. "Chuck" is fast and hits the line hard. As captain, he will doubtless turn out a fine team next year.

"MAC" McCandless

"Mac" was a guard last year. He plays a strong aggressive game both defensive and offensive. He is a fighter from start to finish and always gave his opponent cause to remember he had been in a football game.

"FRED" FREDLEY

"Fred" took prep at Northern last year and played on the second team where he did good work. Last fall he made the Varsity at once. He was one of the best ground gainers on the team, picking the holes in the opponents' line with rapidity and sureness.

"HILLY" HILFINGER

This was "Hilly's" first year in Northern football. He is a fast, aggressive and scrappy player both in offensive and defensive. A torn ligament kept him out of the game during the first of the season, but he wound up in good shape. "Hilly" is a junior and we expect great things of him next year.

"DICK" RICHARDS

"Dick" was one of the new men who developed into a player under Bugs' teaching. Dick is a clean, steady and consistent player, in training all the time. He will be a strong man for the team next year.

"KEM" KEMERY

We always knew "Kem" could play basket ball, but it remained for him to demonstrate that he could play football as well. We are convinced. The way he plucked forward passes out of the sky or spilled the enemies' interference was a joy to behold. We only regret that he is a senior and will not be here next year.

"MAC" MCALLISTER

"Mac" started the season at center last year, but took the typhoid and had to leave school. This year Bugs put him on end where he played a good game. His ability to gather in forward passes made many points for Northern. Mac is a junior and will be back next year.

"HICKS" BATCHELLOR

Another of Bugs' finds. Hicksville was compelled to take the bench during the latter part of the season by an injured arm. He is another first year man and altho inexperienced, played a good game. With his strength, speed and weight and the valuable experience he gained this year he should make a star player next year.

"HEAVY" NUKIRK

A new man at Northern, but not a new man at football. Both at guard and tackle "Heavy" played a star game. Whether making holes in the opponents' line or breaking up their plays he was on the job all the time. Being a junior, he will add much to the strength of the line next year.

"BUD" SHORT

"Bud" is another of Northern's husky guards who will be here another year. He played his man hard from start to finish. With the experience and coaching he gained this year he will be a hard man to beat next year.

"DUDLEY" STEMM

"Dudley" was the heaviest man on the line. He weighed about two hundred, and it was not fat. either, as his opponents can testify. When "Dudley" started he swept all before him. On defense there was no getting thru him. "Dudley" is a junior and expects to play again next year.

"ART" ALLCROFT

"Art" played on the Northern second team two years ago. He went out last fall determined to make the Varsity. Art is a hard worker and trained faithfully. This is his last year at Northern.

PROF. SLEESMAN

Prof. was faculty manager and made the trips with the team. He made the comfort of the players his first consideration and saw that they got the best to be had.

SUBS

Northern had no organized second team this year, but there were many gridiron heroes who came out day after day, even tho they were not on the Varsity; spending their time and taking the hard knocks in order that their college might have an eleven to be proud of. We must not forget that to them we owe the success of the first team.

NEX YEAR

So much for the football season of 1914-15. It will be long remembered in Northern's history, for we believe it marks the dawning of a new era in athletics at Northern. Thanks to the efforts of Coach Raymond and the faithful work of our pep-inspiring cheer leaders, Brown and Palmer, a better college spirit has been aroused, a Varsity N Association, to work for the betterment of athletics has keen established. A splendid schedule is being arranged for next year, including several games with conference teams. Coach Raymond is coming back again next year. Nine of the N men of this year will be back. Watch Northern's football team next year.

NORTHERN

C. W. Brecheisen Coach

With a coach of recognized ability at the head of the basket ball team, Northern was assured of greater success in this line of athletics than in previous years. A coach is necessary in any athletic contests to bring out the best in the men and to insure the greatest possible team work. And in Dr. Brecheisen, Northern found an excellent coach for her basket ball team. He has coached the Co. G team through successful seasons and knows the game. And while we did not win all of the games, the fault was not with him.

THE CHEER LEADERS 232

Basket Ball

The basket ball season of '14-'15 was a successful one, but we believe it could have been made more so. While there were but two of last year's five back this year, there was much new material to draw from. And tho the fellows probably trained better than any previous season, they were too long getting together and it was only near the season's end that they exhibited good team-work. However, with Engh, Parsons, Dawson, and probably Judson back next year prospects are pretty bright.

THE GAMES

Wooster 14, Northern 27

The season opened with a rough and exciting contest with Wooster. The individual playing was good, but the team work was poor, owing to the similarity of the jerseys worn by the two teams.

West LaFayette 27, Northern 33

In this game Northern demonstrated that they could play away from home as well as on their home floor. West LaFayette had a heavy team, but Northern's team was too fast for them.

Marietta —, Northern —

The first game to be lost was that at Marietta. Marietta had a fine team and they were in splendid condition so Northern was defeated by a to score.

Athens 35, Northern 26

The next game, which was played at Athens, was close and exciting throughout, and was witnessed by a large, enthusiastic, but sportsmanlike audience. Our boys declare they never played before a more appreciative one.

Oswego 35, Northern 19

The Oswego team, passing through Ada on their western tour, were scheduled for a game. Northern put up good game, but the Oswego five were too much for them and they were defeated by a score of 35-19.

Ohio Wesleyan — Northern —

Ohio Wesleyan sent a fast and heavy team to Ada. Northern took the lead at the start, but were unable to keep up the pace and Wesleyan forged steadily ahead. The score standing ——to ——at the close.

Heidelberg 25. Northern 31

In the game with Heidelberg at Tiffin. Northern struck their stride and by brilliant floor work and passing, defeated the Heidelberg team by a score of 31 to 25.

Michigan Aggies 44. Northern 12

Michigan sent a strong aggregation of husky farmer lads who defeated Northern by a score of 44 to 12. Northern did not seem to be plaving in their usual form, but appeared to be a trifle overtrained. Parsons made his debut in College basket ball and plaved a good game.

Otterbein 33, Northern 29

With Judson too sick to play and Parsons out of the game, Northern lost a tense and exciting contest which should have been a victory. The basket shooting of Kemery, Young and the Otterbein center were the chief features of the game.

Defiance 52, Northern 37

The game at Defiance was marked by much roughness on both sides. The first half was very close, but in the last half Defiance, with the welcome assistance of the referee ran up a score of 52 to 37.

Heidelberg 31, Northern 53

The second game with Heidelberg was played at Ada and was an easy victory for Northern. The game was remarkable for the improved team work of Northern's five.

St. Johns 19, Northern 40

In the last game of the season with St. John's University at Toledo, Northern was again successful, running up a score of 40 to their opponents 19. The basket shooting of Kemery and Engh was the feature of the game.

THE PLAYERS

CAPTAIN KEMERY

If anything Kem played a better game this year than last. His passing and shooting were good, his floor work unexcelled. As captain he handled the team well and did much toward making the season a successful one.

"Bud' Engh

Engh was another of last year's stars whose brilliancy was undimmed by this year's performance. His floor work was even better than last year and the team work of he and Kemery was good to see.

"STEAMBOAT JOE" DAWSON

Joe was one of the men who came out last year, but did not make the team. This year he made good from the start and played a good, consistent game throughout the season. His shooting was accurate and, at guard, he never failed to stick to his man.

"B" Young

"B" was another of last year's aspirants who made good this year. His floor work was good and his shooting at times truly brilliant.

"Ernie" Bain

Bain played equally well at center or guard. His floor work was good and his passing probably the best on the team.

Parsons

Parsons was a new man and did not get on the team until mid-season. His floor work was good and he played his man to a finish. Parsons has two more years at Northern and we expect great work from him in the future.

"BARNEY" BARNETT

"Barney" was the sub this year. He stuck the entire season and played hard. Barney is a Junior and will have another chance next year.

Baseball 1914

With eight of the old players back Northern was assured of having a good team from the start. All the places were filled by old players except right field. There were a great many new men out who looked good and who will doubtless make good material for the 1915 team. The season was a most successful one, Northern winning five out of the eight college games played, scoring a total of forty-five points to their opponents twenty.

Under Malloy's coaching the team came into shape rapidly and were ready for the first game with the Ohio Medics April 18. Mills and Main pitched good ball and were well supported. The Medics were defeated by an 8-1 score.

The following game, played a week later, was almost a repetition of the first, Northern pounding the offerings of Otterbein's two pitchers impartially, while her players were apparently baffled by Mills' curves.

The next game was with the strong Wesleyan team, which proved another easy victory for Northern. There were many errors but the game was made interesting by the hard hitting and the many brilliant plays.

On May 9th Northern went to Bellefontaine to play the city team. This game was lost by errors. Northern was in the lead until the seventh inning when a couple of costly errors started the score of Bellefontaine. Mills pitched and Malloy caught one of their best games of the season.

The next game was played at home with Heidelberg. Main pitched a good game and was well supported, Northern winning by a score of 9-3.

The last game at home was with Wittenberg and everyone expected a hard fight and close contest as Wittenberg was considered one of the best teams in the conference, but the visitors, unable to solve the curves handed them by Mills and Semm, were defeated by a score of 12-0. Wittenberg failed to make a single hit.

The next game abroad was with Capitol at Columbus. Stemm pitched good ball and was well supported but Northern lost, through their not being able to connect with the ball at the right time.

The second game with Wesleyan was lost through poor support. In the hands of their experienced coach the Wesleyan nine had undergone several changes from the first game here and were able to defeat Northern 6-0.

THE TEAM

"CHARLIE" MILLS

This year as last, Mills was the star pitcher of the season. He has speed, control, and curves, and fields his position fast. At bat he was a slugger, leading the team for a good part of the season.

"CHET" MAIN

Main pitched good ball this season. He showed up best in the Heidelberg game where but fifteen faced him in the last five innings.

"DUDLEY" STEMM

Stemm was a new recruit to Northern's pitching staff. He pitched good ball and is a heavy hitter.

"SKEET" HILL

"Skeet" has an ideal build for a first sacker and played the position in a creditable manner, besides being one of the heaviest sluggers on the team.

"STUMPY" STUMP

Stump played a fast game in the outfield last year, and he is equally good in the infield. He played second base in a manner that left nothing to be desired.

"Kissy" Ross

Ross made some of the most brilliant plays of the season. He is cool, steady, a good batter, and a fast base runner.

"BILL" STARRY

This was Starry's second year at third where he played a good clean, consistent game.

"MONTY" MONTGOMERY

"Monty" played a fast game at third, getting everything within his territory. He left school before the season was over.

"SMILEY" YOUNG

Young was sub-catcher last year. He went to the outfield this year, where he played a good game.

"BABE" ADAMS

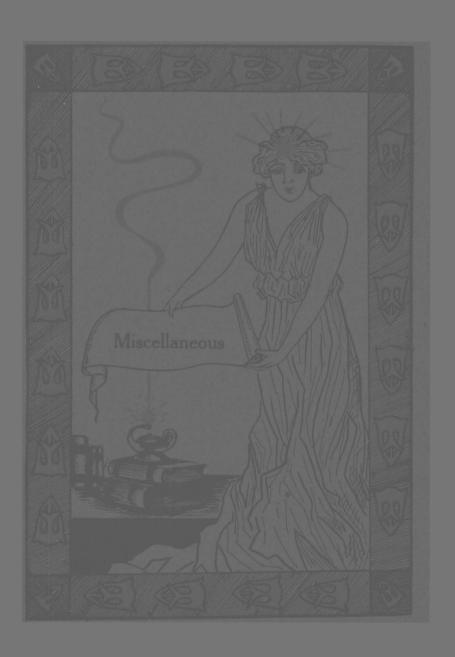

"Babe" is a slugger and a fast outfielder. In the first game of the season he knocked two home runs.

MILLER

Miller was another new recruit and a great addition to Northern's line-up. He is a fast outfielder, a heavy hitter, and a fast base runner.

LESLIE BROOKS

Brooks was Student Manager and a hard worker. He was always on the job keeping the field in shape and looking after the needs of the players.

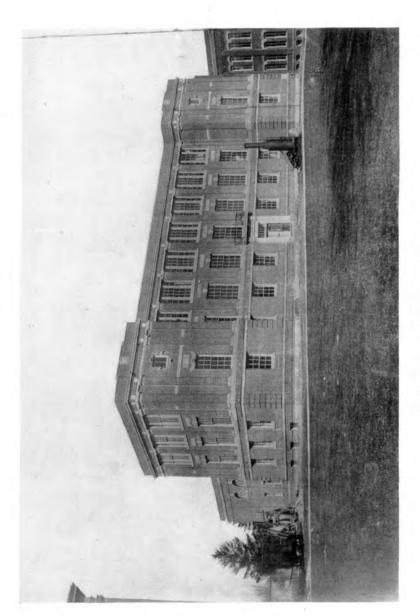

In Memoriam of What Might Have Been Said About You

LEHR MEMORIAL NEARING COMPLETION

Lehr Memorial

As a fitting and lasting monument to the labors of Dr. Henry S. Lehr, the beautiful and massive Lehr Memorial being erected on the campus at O. N. U. will soon be completed. It is 122x168 feet on the base and, including the basement, also devoted to college work, is four stories high. First floor to be used for Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., office and recitation rooms; second floor devoted to The Library, Law College, reading rooms, etc.; third floor occupied by the College of Commerce, offices and recitation rooms.

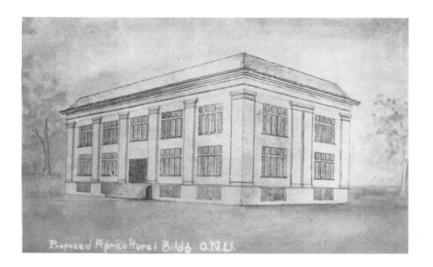

The entrance from the east is a beautiful specimen of architectural design. Overhead your gaze is met with attractive cornice and striking panels in pearl white plasterparis. Beneath your feet as well as to right and left in wainscoting is pure white Vermont marble protected by elegant brass hand railing. Ample lobby and hallway lead hither and thither, but the nearest center of attraction is the large auditorium which will accommodate fifteen hundred people, each individual being so seated as to have both eye and ear conveniently trained on the ample forum in the west end of the building.

The tallow dip of our foreparents will be supplanted by electrical current, which will nowhere show to a better advantage than in the forty brilliant bulbs and clusters in the auditorium. This place of public assembly is further to be beautified and made historical by memorial and department windows of high grade art glass. Not a pound of coal will be used in the building, but it will be heated by a combination of hot air and steam forced through the building by the University heating system. Fans and plenum chambers conduct hot air to each and every room in the great building, changing the atmosphere every eight minutes, thus insuring the most perfect sanitary conditions.

It has been predicted, so firm is the edifice on its foundation, that it will stand four hundred years. The exterior part, made of beautiful red brick laid in white mortar with appropriate stone trimmings, presents it a perfect model in modern educational architecture.

It is not only a monument to Dr. Lehr, the founder of the institution, to Dr. A. E. Smith, who conceived it, to Secretary Thomas, whose untiring efforts gathered the funds, but also to the multiplied thousands of O. N. U. lovers, from Maine to the Golden Gate, and from the Lakes to the Rio Grande, whose sacrifice money made the structure possible.

The dream of the Lehr Memorial began to be realized when the workmen first broke sod, March 28, 1914. Of the $66,000 which has been subscribed to the Lehr Memorial fund $30,000 has already been received in cash and it is easy to see that what was once thought to be impossible is now at the very doorway of a magnificent achievement.

THE COLLEGE FARM

The Ohio Northern University is abreast of the times on the subject of Agriculture. Aside from the state Institutions, it was the first University in Ohio to establish an Agriculture College. It has an up-to-date Dean, Prof. H. F. Cotterman, of Ohio State University, a fifty acre College Farm, ten acres of which are within the corporation of the City of Ada, for which nearly $1 0,000 has been subscribed, in money and stocks, and valuable implements most of which has been donated by friends of the Institution.

Of the nearly $1 0,000 in money secured by Secretary A. A. Thomas, by the time the annual is published more than $7,000 will have been paid into the farm fund. The farm has increased in value since purchased by the University from ten to fifteen thousand dollars by improvements in ditching, fencing, buildings, etc.

To a Senior Co-Ed

BY A JUNIOR

The years of campus, Duke's and Hill, Of Lehr, proposed, and Brown's, Of studies, military drill, And students' ups and downs.

More and yet more tiresome grew, And I was losing heart, But an the evening I met you, I took a strong, new start.

I've always been so very shy
When any girl was near,
But while with you, I don't know why,
I found I had no fear.

I know we talked for quite a while,
And I enjoyed each moment.

I learned to watch for your rare smile,
And thanked the fates I'd seen it.

You listened with a kindly ear
To all I had to say,
Of hope, ideals and my fear,
And what I would some day.

When your ambitions, you disclosed, Mine seemed so cheap and small, On life's good things, I took a hold, And let the friv'lous fall.

From then I saw you every day,
Because I watched and waited,
If with a smile you looked my way,
I felt well compensated.

But soon with school days, you'll be done, When you will leave old Northern, And life's real work will have begun, With pleasant tasks, and solemn.

Some lucky man will win your love And may he be deserving. Queenlike and gentle as a dove, You'll make his home an Eden.

From now, time's passing will be slow, But for my gladsome day dreams, Yet these alone will keep aglow Ambition's bright, hot flames.

Some day, again, perhaps we'll meet When I have won some glory To lay before you at your feet, And finish this, my story.

Heart Throbs

ADVICE TO SENIOR CO-EDS

Department Editor...... DOROTHY PAIGE

Dear Miss Paige: For sometime I have been receiving the attentions of a very nice young man who bears the same name as an article of food popular among the Chinese. I have learned to like him very much and have reasons for believing he reciprocates in kind, but he has never told me so, being very modest. We both finish school this term and I fear he will not say those words I'm so anxious to hear. Do you think it would be improper for me to help him just a little?

Anxiously.

MISS W

Dear Miss W.: I know of no young man in school of the name "Rats," so presume it must be one other, in which case it would not only be highly proper, but an act of mercy for you to supply those words which I'm sure the young man wishes to have said.

Dear Miss Paige: I'm very much agitated because my gentleman friend is so much taller than I. My girl friends at the Stuart house say we look like Texas and Rhode Island when walking together. We like each other very much and he is such a dear boy, but this talk is unpleasant. Please console me. MISS R.

Dear Miss R.: Yes, I've noticed that you are able to walk under his arm, but you should worry not. He's the more capable of taking care of and protecting you.

Dear Miss Paige: I am deeply in love with an engineering student who is s very fine singer and song writer, while I'm somewhat of a Poetess. I've just about persuaded him that he should give up Engineering and allow me to compose song verses for him to set to music and sing in opera. However, I've heard that two people of artistique temperment make very poor companions. Is this true? I wish your advice. Sincerely,

MISS L.

Dear Miss L.: I like your plan very much, being romantic myself. No, I wouldn't worry about any trouble. Dream on.

Dear Miss Paige: I am the only girl in my department. There are about 45 young men and of course they're all in love with me. I have a preference, but he is rather backward. However, we have advanced far enough to call each other Portia and Skelly. Is there anything I can do to help this along? Sincerely, MISS A.

Dear Miss A.: No, I wouldn't encourage Skelly too much. He's a conservative, you know.

Dear Miss Paige. I have been exerting all my influence upon the Editor-in-Chief to get a promise that nothing would appear in the book that might cause me any trouble with my gentleman friend back home. He will make no promise and I'm worried. Do you think you could influence him? Anxiously, CATHA.

Dear Catha: I'm in the same boat and have resorted to all my arts to win the Editor's promise, but have apparently failed. He is the most stuborn fellow I've ever met. However, I'll do my best for you since you've been such a good friend of mine. In the meantime we can merely await the appearance of the book. Just as anxious. DOROTHY.

Dear Dorothy: My friend, commonly called "Tommy," is going to Ohio State and I don't get to see him nearly so often as I'd like. He writes just the dearest letters and says I'm his onliest only, but I sometimes wonder if he doesn't just do that to keep me from suspecting him of having girls down there. What do you think? Sincerely, SYLVIA.

Dear Sylvia: Why, I didn't know that you and Tommy were such friends. Frankly, dear, I'd watch Tommy. You see he and I used to be great friends. But when he got to going with other girls, I retaliated and had fellows galore. Then he came around all right, but I was cured, for I met a fellow I liked just loads better. Why don't you try that? I've had dozens of fellows ask me who you were. Think it over dear. Yours, DOROTHY.

Dear Miss Paige: When I came here I had a steady fellow who came along with rae, but after a while I met many others and Hughie faded away. Since then, however, I've learned to appreciate him for I've met no other fellow who composed song poems and dedicated them to me. His last one was entitled "Somebody Stole My Cirlie." How can I reconcile him? Sincerely, RUTH.

Dear Miss S.: Yes, I heard all about it and have seen the song. As to advising you, I'm afraid it's too late. Hughie is already reconciled. Your friend, MISS PAIGE.

Farewell

My school days are numbered
And my mind is encumbered
With regrets that I must depart,
From these scenes, so replete
With bonds strong and sweet
And tokens, dear to my heart.

Each stairway and wall,
Each room and each hall
Are reminders of friends I have made,
While the soft friendly breeze
And the campus and trees
Recall the long walks in the shade,

The old loud toned bell,
That each day tolled the knell
Of the class hours as they sped away,
And Old Glory on high,
Unfurled to the sky,
Both strengthen my wishes to stay.

But now out in life
I must turn and meet strife
And duty and pleasure combined;
And the scenes will be changed,
And my future arranged,
By circumstance less and less kind.

But I go not with fear,
For the time I've spent here
Has given me courage as well.
So what good I may do
I shall credit to you.
Farewell, my Northern, Farewell!

Looking Backward

We may improve thru retrospection. How profitless would be our experiences in life if we could not look back over them and see wherein they might be improved, or wherein they were successful.

In reviewing this book we can see places which could be improved by a second effort. But we have done our best under the limited experience and finances.

Many new friendships have been formed. Among whom we like to mention the Champlin Printing Company. Mr. Ward, president of the company has given us many helpful suggestions, and has fulfilled his part of the contract beyond the letter. And to our engravers, The Canton Engraving and Electrotype Company, we are indebted for a uniform, pleasing, and artistic work. We are pleased to mention also the excellent work of the Paeszler Studio.

The success of any college annual is made possible largely through its advertisers. The students of Northern spend each year several thousand dollars with the merchants of the city. Let us PATRONIZE THOSE WHO ADVERTISE IN THE ANNUAL.

Every Day is Lady's Day With Him

TO FYKE, BY "THE GANG"

He thinks girls love him for his grace, And comely figure and smiling face, For from his mouth the sound did come, Of many hearts that he had won.

First Flowers and all her charms serene, A mighty hunter of men so green.

Then Hartwell says come live with me, And bring thy trunk along with thee.

McFarland heard of his great love, For a little girl he called his dove, Who cleaned his nails and combed his hair, Just to keep the Boob right there.

And so this little girl did throw, Like Packy McFarland throws his foe, And told him immediately, there and then, To never, never speak again.

To end this all, the people say, Miss Ley is with him every day, And mourns as O'er the campus green, He picks his way in the moonlight sheen.

He tells of how he's made them cry, And laugh and smile and even die. To all his friends he tells his woes, Of the hearts he's won and the girls he's froze.

In ending up this little rhyme, We want to impress on the reader's mind, It's best to not your past unfold, After you've been so awful bold.

WHAT IS IT?

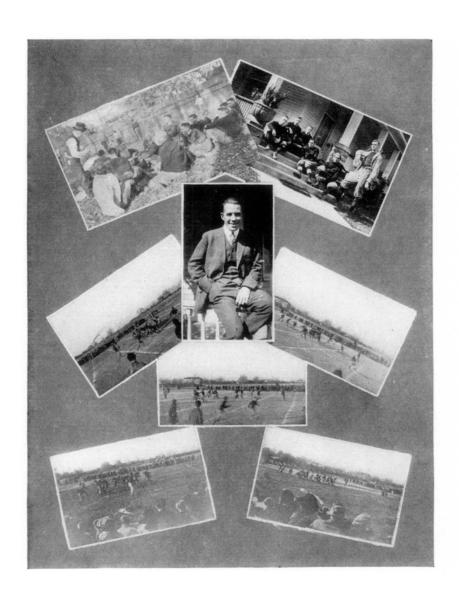

In dear old Lima I love to roam,
And think of Pittsburgh for a future home.
I ve traveled the town by nigh:: and day,
And prayed to Prof. Mohler to there let me stay.

I am tired of pills and chemicals, too, And I oft seek solace in a good old stew. I make the rounds till the break of day, And return to Ada for the good old hay.

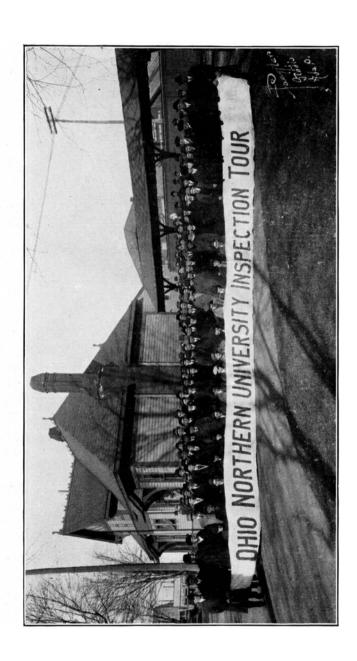

I love the ladies in this dear old place, As they certainly set a wonderful pace. I love the village with all its din, And will sure return when my ship comes in.

Lima lends enchantment to the view, But I am thinking now of Pittsburgh and of you. Now I am old and weary, lame and sore, I return, Dear Susie, to roam no more.

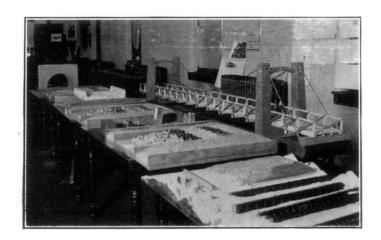

Dedicated to C. Hadley Jenkins.

OUR LAST CHANCE

Some time ago,—and that was a few years before we landed at O. N. U.,—the first Northern was published. It was not bad for a start, but its jokes were woefully dull. Everybody says so, and Everybody must know. Every Northern since then has had the same failing, Everybody says so. And this one, we expect, Everybody will say is not one whit better. Therefore, we have decided to take one last shot at Everybody. Our Calendar and Jokes must be personal, but those about whom they must be personal are just the aforementioned persons. For goodness sake how can we get a better section of Jokes with a subject so,—but our gentle spirit holds us back again; we would hardly dare to print the rest of that sentence.

The Annual Board has purchased a ticket to Mexico and will leave Northern May the twenty-third. We hope to have a little peace while there. Will not return for some time.
